A penny in your hand . . .

What was your first adventure as a customer before the world? Possibly as a very tiny tot . . . with a penny in your fist, and your nose flattened against a show window. Long you debated with yourself—cocoanut strips, or licorice pellets, or chocolate soldiers? It was serious business, for you and the storekeeper.

But he put his best values before you, and in the end everybody was happy—you, because you'd made a satisfactory purchase; he, because he'd made a satisfied customer.

In that transaction blossomed a buying acumen which no doubt has helped to serve you ever since. Likewise, the aim-to-please policy of that storekeeper is to this very day the golden rule of successful merchants and manufacturers. Read any of their advertisements and see. Could they afford to spend money for advertising space and then disappoint you? Of course not. The goods they advertise are their best offerings. They count on them to win both your immediate and your continued patronage

When there's something you need or want or might want it attractively made known to you—clutch your pennies and greenbacks in either hand; study the advertisements in this paper; and surely you'll be guided in the direction that leads to the most for your money.

BAD WEATHER FORECAST . . . FOR CARDS — RAIN GAMES

St. Louis, Sept. 29 (AP)—Despite a downpour last night, followed by a slow, cold drizzle this morning, preparations went forward for the third game of the series this afternoon between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds.

Officials of the Cardinals said the game would be played "if at all possible." In the event it is impossible to play today, the game will be played tomorrow as part of a double-header.

Manager Frankie Frisch of the National League pennant-chasing Cardinals stuck by his plans to send Paul Dean to the mound against the last-place Reds, while Big Paul Derringer, a former Cardinal, was expected to pitch for Cincinnati.

DRIZZLY MORNING GREETS GIANTS FOR TODAY'S GAME

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—A drizzly September morning today greeted the New York Giants as they climbed from their beds to engage the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first of a two game series on which hinges the National League pennant and an opportunity to defend the world title they won last year.

The light rain set in shortly after 8 o'clock and three hours later still was drifting down with no prospects of a letup before game time, 2 p. m. (eastern standard time.)

The precipitation was not enough to make the Polo Grounds field unplayable, unless it should increase a lot. It promised to call down the expected capacity crowd of 56,000.

If today's game is postponed it will have to be played off tomorrow as part of a double header or not at all as the league season officially ends when it becomes too dark to play tomorrow night.

Gus Mancuso will do the catching for the Giants and Al Lopez for Brooklyn.

direction's home field. Tennessee expects to take Centre into camp at Knoxville in the season's opener there.

A good game is in prospect at Macon between the Presbyterian College and Mercer University outfits.

An international game on today's ticket too—between Union University of Jackson, Tenn., and the University of Mexico in Mexico, D. F.

Games elsewhere in the south on today's list include: Centenary-Hendrix College at Shreveport; Furman-Wofford at Spartanburg; Mississippi College-Spring Hill at Laurel, Miss.; Louisiana College-Summit Teachers, Pineville, La.; Middle Tennessee-Freed Hardman at Murfreesboro; Murray-Lambuth at Murray, Ky., and Transylvania-Marshall at Huntington, W. THOMASVILLE BULLDOGS OPEN SEASON WITH but it was another completed pass that carried the ball to Thomasville's 18 yard stripe as the half ended.

The second period was a bit more evenly played.

Blocked Punt

Not long after the third period had opened and the Hornets had received and failed to gain because of the defensive work of Pugh, Jenkins and Culpepper, the Bulldogs paved the way for another touchdown. Piland, the Pelham halfback, attempted a quick kick on his 40 yard line. The kick was low, however, and the Thomasville line sifted through to block the punt with "Pete" Crawford blocking it and recovering the ball on the Pelham 38.

Pierce and Pugh marched for a first down to the 18 yard line in two plays and Hancock was the fair haired boy again. He found a nose as wide as the door of your garage and went storming right through it to cross the Pelham goal line for another score. Boal made the count 27-0 after Pierce bucked for the point.

48 Yard Drive

The next touchdown came on a 48 yard offensive push after Pelham received the kick-off and punted. Walcott, Pierce and Hancock managed to make a first down at Pelham's 30 yard line despite one offside penalty. On two plays Walcott cut in a right tackle and then rammed center to carry the ball to the 12 yard line. The Walcott boy was driving hard and going places so Quarterback Higgins called on him some more. Walcott responded with five yards and then four more at left tackle, and then he plunged the remaining three yards across the goal line. The point was bucked over by Pierce again and the count was 34-0.

Hancock Goes To Town

The teams fiddled around so to third period, and it was left up to speak during the remainder of the Francis Hancock to supply the remaining points and thrills early in the fourth quarter.

Hancock with meritorious assistance from his mates who aided in shaking him clear, struck suddenly. The Bulldogs had just received a punt on Pelham's 38 yard line. And on the first play following the kickoff, pokerfaced Hancock took the ball and started out around Pelham's left end. The end played out wider and one of Hancock's interferers yelled for him to cut in. Cut in he did, and then out to the right again with someone running a head to see to it that the Pelham left halfback didn't get him. Hancock kept moving his dogs along the turf, and on he sped unmolested to the goal line. It was the longest run of the day, and ended the afternoon's scoring, sending the total number of Thomasville points to an even forty.

More substitutes were inserted in the Thomasville line-up during that last period and the teams see-sawed about without any scoring threat. The game ended just after Keith Higgins intercepted a desperate Pelham pass. The ball was in the Bulldogs' possession on Pelham's 38 yard line, second down and ten to go.

The Bulldogs had won themselves a 40-0 victory, and they were quite delighted with it.

Individual Play

It would be a difficult task indeed to discuss in detail the individual play of the Bulldogs and their numerous substitutes. Suffice it to say that practically all of them played well and beyond expectations.

Roy Hurst, captain of the team and the only veteran man in the line-up, led his team admirably from his new tackle position. He was a power on the offense and defense, and the Bulldogs realized him when he was taken out of the game to allow reserves to gain experience under fire.

Alton Singletary looked very promising on the other tackle position. Inman and Fair acquitted themselves well at the ends as did Redding and Billie Billy Chastain who were among the substitutes for those positions. Redding displayed a gratifying amount of fight on occasions. The play of the starting guards, Jimmy Culpepper and Vance Jenkins was rather pleasing, particularly on the defensive. Lamar "Pete" Crawford, reserve lineman of last year's eleven, performed nicely at his pivot position.

Pierce and Hancock shared ball carrying honors, and Walter Walcott was not far behind them. Pierce displayed flashing speed, an agility to step in a broken field, and amazing power for a boy of such a slight build. Walcott and Pugh proved to be the most powerful runners in the light Bulldog backfield. Keith Higgins, playing his first game at quarterback, ran his steam nicely.

The Bulldogs were without the services of two backs, Charlie Latcha who has an injured leg and Herman Isaacs.

There were many substitutes, so many that space forbids a discussion of their prowess, but they looked promising against the weaker opposition.

Pelham's better individual players were the Musgrove brothers on the line, and Piland, the captain and left halfback.

The starting line-ups:

Thomasville		Pelham
Fair	LE	Gardner
Hurst	LT	Bowen
Jenkins	LG	Glenn
Crawford	C	F. Musgrove
Culpepper	RG	D. Musgrove
Singletary	RT	Hinson
Inman	RE	Maxwell
Higgins	QB	Powell
Pierce	LH	Piland
Hancock	RH	Connor
Pugh	FB	Ferrell

AMERICAN FEMININE GOLF STARS LICK THE BRITISH

By DILLON GRAHAM

Cherry Chase, Md., Sept. 29 (AP)—America's record of no defeats in amateur team competition with British golfing rivals still is unmatched. Because of its 6½ to 5½ triumph over the English in the Curtis cup contests, the United States Women's golfing team was receiving the plaudits of golfdom today.

Held to a draw by the Britons in the opening doubles the American stars arose to the occasion and punched out triumphs in five of the six singles yesterday. Thus they retained the cup they won two years ago at Wentworth, England.

In the eight Anglo-American Walker cup battles, Uncle Sam's fair sharpshooters have been victorious every time, and in 1932 the girls won the first Curtis cup affair 5½ to 3½.

Only Mrs. J. B. Walker, an Irish star, was able to roll up a victory for the British in the singles over the Cherry Chase course. She defeated Mrs. Estelle Coldthwaite of Fort Worth, Texas, three and two.

Mrs. Leona Cheney of California, overwhelmed the young pride of the Invaders, 17-year-old Pamela Barton, 7 and 5, while the American champion, Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, finished with a 3 and 1 advantage over Miss Diana Fishwick.

COLUMBUS WINS OPENER IN LITTLE WORLD SERIE

Toronto, Sept. 29 (AP)—Toronto [illegible] its baseball forces today to repel the invading Columbus Red Birds of the American Association, who opened the little world series last night with a 5 to 3 triumph over the Maple Leafs, International League playoff winners.

A hard hitting team, the Leafs were handled roughly by Ed (Bear Tracks) Creer in the opening contest, getting only five hits, the second game of the best five out of seven series in schedule for tonight. With the weather moderating, a crowd somewhat larger than last night's 8,700 was expected to turn out.

Although medical science has found that twins occur only once in 87 births, the stork has been particularly generous to the Ruff family of Peach Bottom township, Pennsylvania, where four sets of twins were born in three generations.

In the drawing above they are: back row, Albert, Catherine, Margaret, Gilbert; front row, Ruth, Nathaniel, Jacob and Reba. Nathaniel and Jacob, the eldest pair, are 33 years old and still actively engaged in farming near Delta, Pa. Albert and Gilbert are sons of Jacob. They represent the second generation. The four girls are all in the third generation. Catherine and Margaret are granddaughters of Jacob, daughters of Edgar Ruff who is a son of Jacob. Ruth and Reba are daughters of Chester Ruff who is a son of Moses Ruff, a brother of the eldest twins.

Joseph Gurney Cannon of Illinois, known throughout the country as "Uncle Joe," served in the United States Congress longer than any other man. Yet, strange as it seems his career in Washington was interrupted by two defeats at the polls.

He began in the House of Representatives March 4, 1873, serving continously until March 3, 1891, when he was defeated. He was elected again, two years later, to the house where he served until he met his second defeat in 1913. He was elected again in 1915 and served eight years, at which time he retired.
